Are you interested in an opportunity to participate in art and self-reflection?

Students from the University of New England would like to invite you to take part in a research project. During this project, the students are hoping to learn about:

- the way you see yourself and your identity, and
- how you feel other people see you.

To learn about these things, weekly meetings will be held where project participants will create art and have group conversations focused on these topics.

If you think you may be interested in this project, please join us on Sunday, February 15, 2015 from 2:00pm to 3:30pm in Activity Room (3) of Park Danforth for an Introductory Informational Meeting.

At this meeting, you’ll meet the students and learn about the project. Please note that attending this meeting won’t commit you to anything – the decision to participate in this project is completely up to you. Those who want to participate can sign up for the project at this meeting. Snacks and beverages will be provided!

---

Important Project Details:

- NO PREVIOUS ART EXPERIENCE IS REQUIRED – everyone is welcome!
- All of the art supplies will be provided – there will be no financial cost to you.
- This project can only accommodate 10 people (first come, first serve).
- This project will take place over 12 weeks between February and May, 2015.
- Those who sign up for this project will meet as a group once a week at Park Danforth to create art and have group conversations about identity and perception.
- Snacks and beverages will be provided at all meetings.
- If you sign up for this project but later change your mind, you can stop participating at any time.
